

Deine Meinung

Beitrag von „Lugal Aretas V“ vom 17. April 2008, 12:24

The story of the Shoa was told to me at first by my grandfather who was one of the few to escape a deathcamp named Sobibor, and lived to tell..

The German machinery of destruction, one must not forget, worked near to perfect and 99% of those who fell prey to it would simply not believe that they were about to be killed.

The very idea to get arrested, carried away and be killed simply sounded to most Jews in the process and even today many people still find it near to impossible to believe that the Shoa actually took place.

Shoa is a thing that never should have happened but did we really learn from it? ,did we?

One thing should never be done as well and that is to make the son's inheritance bearers of what their fathers did, to put it simple do not blame the younger Germans for what happened during 1933 until 1945 that would be highly unfair and unjust.

If we want to live in a safe world we must stop and fight extremism wherever we meet it, head on if must be.

i